

How to reach la Mimosa

If you come by car, you can take the motorway A1 (l'Autostrada del Sole); 10 miles from Firenze Sud you leave the A1 at Incisa and turn left, towards Figline, which you reach after 2.5 miles. Here you turn right, towards Poggio alla Croce. After 2 miles upwards, turn left towards San Martino, the road winds a little, you pass a number of drives, and after 450 yards you will find la Mimosa on your right side.

You can also take the road SS 222 from Florence towards Siena, until Grassina, where you turn left to Figline, for about 20 minutes you travel in the middle of the Chianti hills, passing the villages of San Polo in Chianti and Poggio alla Croce. Farther on you pass the hamlet of Brollo, and, a little more ahead, you turn right towards San Martino, and after 450 yards you will find la Mimosa on your right side.

If you take the train, you get off at the station of Figline Valdarno at about 2.5 miles from la Mimosa. There are services from and to Florence every hour. The trip takes about 30 minutes.

La Mimosa is an old farm house standing in the middle of its 16 acres land, a shelved ground overgrown with olives, vine and wood. Situated on the fringes of the Chianti district, 16 miles south-east of Florence (direction Rome), on the eastern side of the Chianti mountains, sloping downwards to the Arno river, 1000 feet above sea level. You can go for a walk on the ground and in the environs, you can go on mountain bike, walk in the wood, or rest in the shadow with a cup of tea or a cool refreshing drink. You can read you favorite author or the newspaper, or you can listen to the birds' song.

Outside the house there are tables and chairs, and a barbecue.

We make Chianti red wine and olive oil (olio extra vergine di oliva), which are sold directly to our guests.

At la Mimosa you are not far from Florence, Siena or San Gimignano, Arezzo, Greve in Chianti, and all the charming villages in the Chianti area, and in the Arno valley.

We speak English, German, French, Italian and Danish.
